

Luther Seminary EndNote Use Agreement

Luther Seminary has entered a contract with the producers of EndNote for all faculty and students to be able to install and use EndNote on their own personal computer or use it on a campus computer. You will likely want to use it on only one computer to better manage your own personal data.

If you are installing EndNote on your own personal computer you need to understand the terms of use. By signing this agreement you are saying you understand that if you end your Luther Seminary student status, graduate from Luther Seminary or if Luther's contract for EndNote is terminated, you will uninstall the EndNote program from your computer and discontinue its use. You also agree not to share this software with anyone else.
